

William

GRACE'S COMMUNITY KITCHEN CLIENT

Never in my wildest imagination did I think I would not be able to afford food. I have worked and lived my entire life in Westchester County, but when I retired, I saw that the cost of everything continued to go up but my income did not. I quickly realized I needed to work again.

At my age it was difficult to find a job.

Luckily, I found a great opportunity transporting clients to appointments throughout Westchester County. I hoped it would be enough to make ends meet. I was wrong.

I heard about Lifting Up Westchester's Community Kitchen from one of the clients I was transporting and decided to check it out. I felt welcomed the moment I walked through the door, and the food was great.

I don't have to go to the community kitchen every day, but towards the end of the month when my funds are running low, it is a big relief to know there is a place I can count on for food.

